Prefatory Note

The 1969 volume is the first of the permanent annual cumulated volumes of the CUMULATIVE BOOK INDEX to be published under the recently revised publication schedule. Books published before 1969 or early in 1970 may be included if the information was received within the 1969 calendar year.

This index is an author-subject-title international bibliography of books published in the English language. Government documents, most pamphlets, cheap paper-bound books, maps, music scores, editions limited to five hundred (or less) copies, privately published genealogies, local directories, prospectuses, tracts, tests, propaganda, and, in general, all material of a local, fugitive, and ephemeral nature are not included.

While works which are wholly in a foreign language are not listed, dictionaries, grammars, phrase-books, readers, editions of foreign classics, and other aids to language learning, are included if they contain some English.

All index entries are in a single alphabetical list. Author entries, which are the most complete, contain full name form (including pseudonyms), complete title, series, edition, paging, price, date of publication, publisher, Standard Book Number when available, and Library of Congress card number.

Prices quoted are list prices which are, of course, subject to change.
